

BANK OFFICIALS UNDER INDICTMENT

Ex-Manager Ex-Vice Prest. and Director of Cal. Safe Deposit & Trust Co.

FELONY AND EMBEZZLEMENT.

Bench Warrants Issued and Bail Fixed Respectively at $30,000, $35,000 and $50,000.

San Francisco, Dec. 30.—Following a thorough investigation into the affairs of the California Safe Deposit & Trust company, which failed owing depositors nearly $9,000,000, and the methods of its officials alleged to have been responsible for the wrecking of the bank, indictments were returned late this afternoon by the grand jury, charging James Daisel Brown, former general manager, Walter J. Bartlett, former vice president, general counsel and director, and James Treadwell, director, with felony and embezzlement. One indictment each was returned against Brown and Bartlett, and two against Treadwell.

Bench warrants were issued and bail fixed at $30,000 for Brown, $35,000 for Bartlett, and $50,000 on one charge against Treadwell and $25,000 on the other. Brown and Bartlett are already confined in the county jail on indictments charging embezzlement in connection with the disappearance of securities valued at $200,000 belonging to the Colton estate, which had been deposited by Bartlett as special administrator with the trust company.

The indictment against Brown returned today is based on a note for $25,000, given by H. N. Storrs, a bookkeeper in the bank, on May 7, 1906. Storrs, according to Assistant District Attorney William Hoff Cook, testified before the grand jury that he signed the note at the request of Brown and that the latter took the money from the bank. As security for the note, some stock in the Central Traction company, a street railway company in Stockton, was put up. This stock stood in Storrs' name as trustee. The latter, it is alleged, had sold the stock, but never owned the stock and that it was not issued until some time after the note was given.

Bartlett's indictment for embezzlement was in connection with a note given by W. T. Kearney, an attorney, for a loan of $30,000 on Oct. 19, 1906. Bartlett, it is alleged, received the money and Kearney acting only as a "dummy." On that date, it is claimed, Bartlett had withdrawn his account at the bank about $20,000 and got Kearney to give the note, which left Bartlett $10,000 to his credit. The note was originally put up as security, but upon investigation it was found that later this stock was taken up and shares in the Trinity Traction Mining company substituted for it.

One indictment against Treadwell of Treadwell mine in Alaska, and well known in mining circles, was returned on Jan. 1, 1907, for $45,000 from the bank, in which he was a director, for which Treadwell gave his personal note on Sept. 4 last. At this time, it is alleged, Treadwell owed the bank over $300,000 for loans and had overdrawn his current account about $25,000. Instead of paying interest, it is claimed that every time that interest was due he gave a new note.

The obtaining of a loan of $45,000 left $20,000 to the credit of his current account, but by Oct. 8 this was all gone and he had again overdrawn. On this date, it is alleged, he made a new note for $62,500, dated it back to Sept. 4, had the note made on the latter date destroyed and substituted for it a note for $62,500, which left $37,500 to his credit. The second indictment against him was based on the latter transaction and specifies $17,500 as the sum embezzled.

A NEW SAYING OF CHRIST'S DISCOVERED.

Chicago, Dec. 30.—The Daily News today says:

"A new saying of Christ, lost to the world for 1,300 years and found in Egypt, was given to the world for the first time today by Prof. Henry A. Sanders of the University of Michigan, addressing the members of the archaeological institute now in session at the University of Chicago. The fragment, a part of an old Bible dating back to the Moslem conquest of Egypt, and on its face is so authentic as to disarm hostile criticism. The fragment belongs to the sixteenth chapter of the Gospel of St. Mark, and follows the fourteenth verse. It relates to the story of Christ's appearance, following his death, to 11 of his apostles in Jerusalem.

"Mark 16:14. And they answered, saying that this age of unrighteousness and unbelief is under the power of Satan, who does not permit the things which are made known by the (evil) spirits to comprehend the truth of God and His power. For this reason 'revel Thy righteousness now,' they said to Christ, and Christ said to them:

"The limit of the years of the power of Satan has been fulfilled, but other terrible things are at hand, and I was delivered unto death in behalf of those who sinned in order that they may return to the truth and sin no more, to the end that they may inherit the spiritual, indestructible glory of righteousness which is in heaven."

Prof. Sanders declared that the new found manuscript also contains what is known as the liturgical ending of the Lord's prayer.

The text was found, he said, by Charles L. Freer of Detroit, who was searching in Egypt for additions to his collection.

MARRYING IN HASTE.

New York, Dec. 31.—The law requiring licenses to marry goes into effect tomorrow and already the office of the city clerk is being besieged by couples who desire to obtain the document which will be necessary to their happiness. The city clerk's office is crowded with couples who are waiting for their licenses. Members of the city hall reporters' association were busy interviewing the prospective brides and grooms all day and from 133 out of 134 couples interviewed, secured a promise that their first boy should be called Theodore Roosevelt. The association then telegraphed this information to President Roosevelt, assuring him that there was no present danger of race suicide in New York.

BELGIAN BLOODHOUNDS.

Those Belonging to N. Y. Police Badly Whipped by Cur.

New York, Dec. 31.—Two of the imported Belgian bloodhounds which are being trained for work in the police department, are in the hands of a veterinary surgeon in disgrace. They were completely defeated by one stray, unknown mongrel dog and so badly injured that they had to be sent to a hospital. The dogs are being trained in a large lot in Upper Riverside drive, where two or three members of the detective department spend their days.

Impressing on the dogs their duty. They are constantly punished, while being put through their lessons, but yesterday they were out without their muzzles, when a stray dog of no particular breed, attempted to make friends with them, but the bounds resented his familiarity and pounced on him. The fight was a long and noisy one, but it ended with the stray mongrel trotting contentedly off the field, leaving the two vicious hounds hors de combat. It will probably be several days before the police dogs will be in condition to resume their duties.

GOULD DIVORCE CASE.

New York, Dec. 31.—Attorneys for Mrs. Katherine Clemons Gould have filed an amended bill of complaint in Mrs. Gould's suit for a separation from her husband, Howard Gould. In the new bill, allegations of unfaithfulness have been omitted, in accordance with a ruling of the court, it being held that such allegations are not necessary in a suit for a mere separation. The amended bill alleged that the husband's conduct had rendered the marriage intolerable to the wife and that she was unable to cohabit with him. The court having allowed the case to remain open for the purpose of Mr. Gould's attorneys, Mr. Gould in his answer denies all the allegations.

DUTY ON WOOD PULP.

Rep. Littlefield Says to Reduce it Would Injure American Forests.

Portland, Me., Dec. 30.—Congressman Charles E. Littlefield in a speech tonight on "Forests and the Tariff on Wood Pulp," took issue with President Roosevelt on the effort to reduce the tariff on wood pulp, claiming that such action would tend to increase rather than diminish the drain on American forests. He declared that the tariff on wood pulp is a protection to the American forest industry, and that any reduction would be a direct injury to the American forest industry.

"There will be a general revision of the tariff in the near future, but there will not be a reduction of the tariff on wood pulp," he said. "The tariff on wood pulp is a protection to the American forest industry, and any reduction would be a direct injury to the American forest industry. The tariff on wood pulp is a protection to the American forest industry, and any reduction would be a direct injury to the American forest industry."

PRESIDENT RETURNS.

Washington, Dec. 30.—Looking the picture of health and with every appearance of having enjoyed his outing of five days at Pine Knot, Va., President Roosevelt arrived here tonight at 10:15 p. m. over the Southern railway. The party came in a special train, which made the run from North Garden, the railway station nearest Pine Knot, without a stop. After assisting Mrs. Roosevelt to the platform, the president spent a few moments with those who had gathered around his car. These were either railroad officials or police guard detailed for the occasion. One member of the party laughingly inquired of the president if he had bagged any big game. "Oh, I didn't go after any," was the quick response. "I just took the trip as an outing. We all enjoyed ourselves immensely."

Soon afterward he was being driven to the White House, where he arrived a few minutes after 9 o'clock. There it was stated that no engagements for the evening had been made.

FLEW WITH AEROPLANE.

Paris, Dec. 30.—Henry Farman today succeeded in flying in a circle of about a kilometer with his aeroplane, with the greatest ease. This he attributed to slight improvements which he made to his machine since his last attempts. Accordingly, he has summoned the commission to the Aero club which will make on Jan. 1, to win the $10,000 prize which is offered for the machine which shall first succeed in sailing in the air a circle measuring a kilometer, and which has already been tried three times.

MERCHANT OF VENICE.

El Paso Ministers Object to It Being Stricken from School Course.

El Paso, Tex., Dec. 30.—In consequence of the action of School Supt. G. P. Putnam in eliminating "The Merchant of Venice" from the English course of the El Paso high school at the request of the Jewish congregation, the ministers' union today filed a vigorous protest against what they term "sectarian interference" with the schools. The school board will meet next Monday to consider the question whether the superintendent's action shall be sustained or not.

J. J. HILL OPTIMISTIC.

Minneapolis, Dec. 30.—Two hundred and fifty of the leading business men of Minneapolis for many years past have been present at the annual banquet of the Minneapolis Real Estate board, James J. Hill, chairman of the board of the Great Northern railway, who was the principal speaker, took for his subject, "Minnesota and the Opportunities of the Northwest."

Mr. Hill closed his speech with a rosy view of the future, in which he predicted the most fabulous wealth that would accrue to this section of the country through the exploitation of its resources.

PRIEST TURNS BAPTIST.

El Paso, Tex., Dec. 30.—Father E. J. O'Callaghan for many years priest of St. Mary's parish, San Antonio, Tex., renounced the Roman Catholic church and was baptized into membership in the First Baptist church in this city last night.

VISCOUNT AOKI LEAVES FOR JAPAN

Will Take Back With Him Only The Kindest Feelings For America.

NO TROUBLE IS ANTICIPATED.

Comment That an Amicable Agreement on the Immigration Question Will Be Reached.

Washington, Dec. 30.—"We shall take back home with us to Japan only the kindest feeling for America and for her people, and the highest regard for her institutions," said Viscount Aoki, the Japanese ambassador, to an Associated Press representative today, just prior to his departure for San Francisco with Viscountess Aoki, from which place they will sail on Jan. 7 for home. The ambassador returns to Japan at the instance of his government, which desires to consult with him freely regarding conditions affecting Japanese interests in America, notably those relating to the question of Japanese emigration to the United States.

"I am confident that an amicable agreement will be reached on this immigration question—the only one of any consequence that is now agitating the people of the two countries," said Aoki. "I am certain that Japan will make every nonpartisan concession within bounds, and I feel equally confident that the American government will not insist upon anything unreasonable or that will in any way compromise the dignity or the honor of the Japanese government." He declared that the Japanese government is anxious to reach an honorable solution of the immigration question, and that the latest advice that he has received from his government indicates that the way is being gradually paved with that end in view. As I have said again and again, there is every reason in the world why both countries should have the most complete understanding and friendly relations in every way that lies in their power."

Ambassador Aoki impressed upon his interview the utmost importance of the United States and Japan keeping the most friendly terms, and that their relations should inspire confidence one with the other. In no sense, he said, was this more important than from the commercial standpoint. Japan needed American capital in the development of the numerous enterprises which have come to the front since the Chinese-Japanese war of the last century, and more particularly of the developments since the war with Russia. American capital could find splendid opportunity in Japan, and the efforts of the persons of both countries, the ambassador declared, should be concentrated toward the cementing of the greatest friendship without which much that could otherwise be accomplished would be lost.

HENRIETTA CROSMAN BANKRUPT

New York, Dec. 30.—A petition in voluntary bankruptcy was filed today by Henrietta Crosman, the actress, and her husband, Maurice Campbell, in the United States district court. Financial difficulties have been the result of the production of "The Christian Pilgrim," in which Miss Crosman played the leading role, are given as the cause of the failure of Mr. Campbell and his wife. The liabilities of Mr. Campbell are scheduled as $72,558, with assets of $29,447, and Miss Crosman's liabilities amount to $46,859, with assets of $3,349.

ATTEMPT TO DYNAMITE TRAIN.

Pittsburg, Pa., Dec. 30.—Pennsylvania railroad detectives today arrested Palmer Woods and Patrick Crainey at Brownsville, Pa., and Samuel Conway, at Roscoe, Pa., in connection with an alleged attempt to blow up a passenger train on the Pennsylvania railroad last Friday night, near Monongahela, Pa.

It is said that 66 sticks of 10-inch dynamite were discovered on the tracks, but all were removed before the train came along. Other arrests are expected.

BATCH OF MAIL FOUND.

Checks, Money Orders and Drafts to Amount of $50,000 Scattered About.

Waco, Texas, Dec. 31.—Another large batch of mail has been found west of here, where the first batch was left by the pouch looters Christmas night. It is estimated that checks, money orders and drafts left lying in the gulch where the pouches were opened will aggregate $50,000.

Special government officers are working on the case. Some 2,000 or 3,000 letters for various parts of the United States were in the pouches.

PRIVATE CAR OWNERS.

Pittsburg, Dec. 31.—Officials of the Individual Car owners' association of the United States, recently organized with headquarters here are today sending to every private car owner in the country an appeal to join the organization. The purpose of the association is to afford protection to private car owners and obtain better treatment from the railroads.

SEVEN INSURANCE CO'S WILL QUIT WISCONSIN.

Chicago, Dec. 31.—A dispatch to the Tribune from Milwaukee says: Seven life insurance companies, carrying $8,000,000 in policies in Wisconsin, yesterday determined to quit the state at midnight tonight, when the new insurance laws become effective. They are California, Pacific Mutual, Columbia National, Federal, Des Moines Life, Security Life and Annuity, Union Mutual, and Security Mutual. With these companies on the "retiring list" the total number of life underwriters in Wisconsin is increased to 23. The total amount insured by them is more than $200,000,000. This is about 90 per cent of the total life insurance in force in the state with foreign companies, and nearly 50 per cent of all the life insurance in force, including that carried by the Northwestern Mutual of Wisconsin.

STRICT ECONOMY TO BE THE RULE

The Majority in Congress Is Becoming Alarmed at Treasury Outlook.

RETRENCHMENT IS WANTED.

Committees to Keep Appropriations Down—Schemes for Reducing Stringency.

(Special to the "News.")

Washington, Dec. 30.—If Mr. Tawney, chairman of the house appropriations committee, has his bearings correctly, Congress is not going to order during this session the construction of any additional battleships for the American navy. At least that is the way the Minnesota is talking now. True, the regular appropriations committee does not prepare the bill for the enlargement of the navy, for since former Representative Morrison of Illinois ripped up the old plan of doing things in the house prior to 1885 the naval affairs committee has the power to appropriate outright. The members of that committee, as a rule, appear to favor the building of ships on a large scale, and the shipbuilding concerns of the country can be depended upon to bring to bear every influence possible to go ahead instead of retrench in that line.

DETERMINED UPON ECONOMY.

Republican leaders in Congress who have the full responsibility for legislation on their shoulders have already been in close communication with treasury officials, and receipts are falling off so heavily as a result of the stringency in the money market that it is feared a startling deficiency in the government revenues will be faced right in the midst of the presidential campaign next year. On this account the powerful men who control legislation at Washington seem determined to put the brakes down wherever it is possible, so that the Democrats will not be furnished with material for successful attacks upon the Republicans when the voters will have to pass upon the record made by this Congress.

LARGE EXPORTS GIVE HOPE.

The exports of commodities are now greatly in excess of the imports, according to the latest figures sent out by the treasury officials. This condition, if it continues, will fill the souls of the Republican managers in Congress with hope. It will bring ultimately many millions of dollars from abroad and so far toward reducing the threatened deficit that most experts fear cannot be averted at the end of the present fiscal year.

FOR RELIEVING STRINGENCY.

Representative Hill of Connecticut, one of the leading minds on the house ways and means committee, has been figuring on a novel plan to relieve the financial stringency, but as yet he is not sanguine that his views will meet the approval of his fellow Republicans. Mr. Hill thinks that too great a volume of actual money is paid out to the government employees drawing the larger salaries. He wishes to devise some scheme by which the depository banks could put up bonds as security and issue in each city paper that would pay the government people and not have to call upon Washington and the various treasuries for such big amounts of ready cash. In other words the scrip or certificates would readily pass as currency in all of the cities. A serious objection to this scheme advanced by several Republican congressmen is that it would make the depository banks practically government disbursing officers, and it is feared the country would not stand for this. Such propositions only go to show how anxious most of the leading Republican congressmen are to do something that will maintain an ample supply of cash for the more urgent needs of the government and supply at the same time the banking institutions with funds for emergencies.

BRAINS DON'T ALWAYS GROW HAIR.

It is nip and tuck between Senators Gallinger of New Hampshire and Bacon of Georgia as to who is entitled to be considered the most baldheaded man in Congress. A narrow rim of hair just above the ears is about all each can brag of in the way of hair growth. Among the house members Nick Longworth of Ohio and Captain Hobson of Alabama come about as near having the smallest quantity of hair as any men in that body.

TAYLOR'S IDEA OF TEMPERANCE.

"If I were emperor of the world and had the power to order that no man under 57 years of age should be permitted to take a drink of intoxicating liquor," so said Senator Bob Taylor of Tennessee in discussing with friends the prohibition question. "Then," he added, "every one should be made to lead what I once heard an aged citizen down south call a temperate life. His idea of a temperate life was, 'Take a little and leave a little.' How old are you, senator?" was asked. "Fifty-seven." And no wonder the whole crowd laughed.

ANOTHER BUILDING NEEDED.

The lawyers of the United States who have come here on professional business are wondering how long the department of justice will be without a building in keeping with the others owned by Uncle Sam. For several years the attorney general and his assistants have been cooped up in what was once the residence of former United States Senator Thomas W. Palmer of Michigan. It is not half large enough, and for that reason many of the legal officers of the government are scattered about in rented houses not suited for the purpose.

President Chicago Law and Order League Will Strike Blow for It.

Chicago, Dec. 31.—Arthur Burrage Farwell, president of the Chicago Law and Order league, decided yesterday to "strike a blow" as he said, against New Year revels, and to put a stop to the typical Chicago New Year's celebration—the type which, Mr. Farwell says, has in past years "gone beyond lawful bounds." President Farwell announced that he had taken measures to start prosecutions of such persons and promoters found violating the "one hour past midnight" ordinance at the leading restaurants in the downtown district. He said the league would have a force of detectives in or near the public places to keep watch on New Year parties.

THE LATE GEN. WM. H. KIMBALL.

Gen. William H. Kimball died at midnight, Dec. 29, at his home in Coalville, Summit county. About a year ago one of his legs was amputated, and while he recovered from the operation in a manner that surprised his friends, the ordeal doubtless hastened his death. Mr. Kimball was at one time one of the best known men in Utah, being active in military affairs and performing successful missionary work in behalf of the church.

The deceased was the eldest son of President Heber C. Kimball, was born at Mendon, Monroe county, N. Y., April 10, 1828, and was therefore nearly 82 years of age at the time of his demise. As a child and youth he was with the church in Kirtland and at Nauvoo, and at 22 years of age came to Utah. That was in 1848, and thereafter he made his home in this county and in Summit county. He was proprietor of the Kimball hotel at Park City for many years.

Then William H. Kimball few men took a more prominent part in the Indian wars of Utah. He was first a lieutenant in the territorial militia and advanced rank by rank until he became a general. He was noted for fearlessness and gallantry, and at the skirmish on Battle Creek, Utah county, led a charge of cavalry that will immortalize his name. It was in February, 1850, during a two days' engagement between 60 minute men and twice that number of Ute Indians on the Provo river. The Indians were entrenched along the river bank, and had also taken possession of a double log cabin between their entrenchments and their white foes. The story is thus told in Whitney's History of Utah:

"Finally, in the afternoon of the second day, Capt. Grant, whose care had been to expose his men as little as possible, determined to capture the log house at all hazards. He therefore ordered Lieut. William H. Kimball, with 15 picked men, to charge upon the house and take it. Among those who participated in this charge—the one daring exploit of the campaign—were Ferguson, John R. Murdock, Ephraim K. Hanks, A. J. Pendleton, Orson K. Whitney, Barney Ward, Henry Johnson and Isham Flyn. Kimball and his men proceeded up the river until directly opposite the log house, which now intervened between them and the treacherous Utes. They then turned to the left, facing the rear of the house, and the leader gave the word to charge. Dashing forward through a ravine that for some moments hid them from view, the horsemen emerged upon the flat and were within a few rods of the house, in the act of crossing a small slough, when a roaring volley from the log citadel met them. Kimball was wounded, and the charge was momentarily checked. Several swept on, however, and the Indians, hastily vacating the house, fled to their entrenchments. The first two troopers to gain the house were Lot Smith and Robert T. Burton, who, riding around to the front of the building, entered the passage between the two compartments. Bullets whizzed past them, splintering the wood-work all around, but both they and their horses were soon under shelter. Their companions, a moment later, gathered to the rear of the house and none too soon, for the Indians, recovering from their surprise, began pouring their volleys into the ranks of the cavalry and upon the captured building. Half the horses were instantly killed, and their riders escaped by miracle. Between the volleys, Lieut. Kimball, Ephraim Hanks and others, darting around the corner of the house, gained the inside, while others waited until an opening had been made in the rear."

Funeral services over the remains of Gen. Kimball will be held at Coalville on Thursday. He is survived by 15 children, his oldest son, John H. Kimball, having been engaged in the lively business in the city for 23 years. Others of his sons conduct a stage business at Park City and Goldfield, Nev.
